"Let the little children come to Me, and don't stop them, because the kingdom of God belongs to such as these," Luke 18:16b

Showing kindness and love

There are some countries in the world where moms and dads don't want their children to learn about Jesus.

Some Christians in Indonesia meet in "house churches." One of those house churches invited Muslim children to study stories from the Bible. The Muslim children have different beliefs and a few of the parents got angry. They did not want their children to learn what the house church members had to say.

The church members keep on showing kindness and the love of Jesus to their neighbors. They are praying that the children will be allowed to come and learn Bible stories again. They also pray that the moms and dads will come to church.
