

August 21, 2009

"Let the little children come to Me, and don't stop them, because the kingdom of God belongs to such as these," Luke 18:16b

Kids love VBS

In Guadalajara, Mexico, children are baptized as babies. A 12-year-old Mexican girl was really surprised when she learned that Baptists are baptized after they accept Jesus as Savior. She was going to Vacation Bible School and learned about baptism and more about Jesus through Bible study, music, crafts and games.

One night during the week of Bible school, the leaders wanted to show an evangelistic Christian film. Evangelistic is a big word, but it just basically means that you want to tell others about Jesus so they can love Him too. The movie would have encouraged the kids in VBS and their parents to tell others about Jesus. Three people from the neighborhood came to protest the film. Unfortunately the projector was broken. Let's pray that they get to show the movie some other time.

At the final program for Vacation Bible School, 15 parents came to hear the 62 children sing and repeat Bible verses. Yes, just like you, kids in Mexico love VBS too!

This story comes from the Operation GO team. If you want to learn more about them, ask your parent's permission then visit their website: <http://macopgo.blogspot.com/>

<http://kompray.imb.org>